(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Arrest of a third person for questioning as a possible suspect in the bizarre operating-table slaying of pretty Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, 23, was looked for today as Earle Wynekoop, philandering husband of the dead girl, faced arraignment on a murder charge.

Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, mother-in-law of the girl killed while on the operating table, whose confession placed a strong "accident" defense against the state's case, was quoted as having said to a close friend:

"I had to help — out."

Seek Indictments.

Police were informed that the person named had access to the big 16-room Wynekoop house of gloom in which Rheta died and in which Dr. (Continued on Page Two)

Twelve Civil Work Projects On Program

Twelve civil work projects have been sent to Harrisburg for final approval, Civil Works Administrator L. B. Round, stated today and the approval of the state director is expected within a day or so. Immediately upon approval, workmen will be called from the Federal employment lists and the jobs gotten under way.

The presentation of projects is a rather simple matter. Any community that has a job that can be done has but to fill out the forms furnished by the C. W. A. office, send in a rough sketch of what is to be done, with an estimate of the men and materials needed. It will then be passed on by the Civil Administrator.

Such projects must be on public land and must have a social or economic value connected with them. For example, an athletic field in a township. This must be on ground owned by the township. The social value of such a project is apparent. Another project would be the improving of school grounds, or the beautification of a public square in a borough.

The detail of the organization necessary for the CWA is now complete save for a few minor details. The administrator and his staff are now ready to get under way with as many projects as are approved by December 1.

Rush Liquor Control Bill In Assembly

Unusual Measures Are Being

On New Law

REPEAL EFFECTIVE EARLY NEXT WEEK

Control Bill Must Reach The Governor By Wednesday

HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—Determined to enact adequate liquor control laws during this last week before official repeal, legislative leaders adopted unusual procedures today to get Gov. Gifford Pinchot's program on his desk Wednesday and adjourn for Thanksgiving.

To accomplish this feat, they decided to suspend the rules of the senate tonight to permit final passage of the Scott Control Bill. Then it is planned to relay it to the house where it will be pushed through first reading by a similar suspension of the rules.

It is understood the Scott bill will be amended so that the governor will be unable to dismiss any of the three board members without the consent of the senate.

The McClure Control bill providing for the establishment of state stores and authorizing hotels, restaurants, dining cars, clubs, and steamboats to make retail liquor sales was to be released by a senate committee, amended slightly from the form in which it passed the lower chamber.

Legislative leaders and the governor propose to place on clubs restrictions similar to those on retail establishments. Growing opposition may cause removal of restrictions preventing waitresses from handling liquor.

It is generally agreed this document must reach the chief executive's desk by Wednesday. Opposition to many of its features, however, indicate the final stretch may be far from a path of roses. After it clears the senate finally, the house must give concurrence to amendments made by the upper branch.

Failure of the legislature to enact either of these two measures by Wednesday will force them to either (Continued on Page Two)

"Lynch Trees" Are Mutilated

(International News Service)
SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 27.—The "lynch trees" in St. James Park were badly scarred when dawn broke today. Members of the Thurmond-Holmes lynching mob knifed out hundreds of "souvenirs" during the hectic night.

Pieces of the two lynch ropes were priceless gems to several hundred San Jose citizens, who openly boasted, "yes, I have a piece."

Clubwomen discussed the possibility of asking the park commission to immediately destroy the trees.

Father Demands Satisfaction In Lynching Of Son

Maurice Holmes, Father Of

Mob

CONTENDS HIS SON WAS INNOCENT

(International News Service)
SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 27.—"This is like a nightmare! My boy did no wrong! The mob took an innocent boy's life!"

"I intend to obtain some sort of satisfaction."

This spoke today a broken-hearted father, known as one of San Jose's most respected citizens for thirty years. He was Maurice Holmes, 60, father of Jack Holmes, confessed kidnaper and killer and victim of a mob's fury.

Sitting beside him was his wife, pale and worn after a fearful night of horror. She seemed dazed.

"I spoke to my boy yesterday for the first time since his arrest. He told me that he was innocent."

Swears Innocent.

"I knew Jack and he knew me. We talked over a lot of things. I took him by the arm and looked squarely in his eyes."

"When I asked him, 'Jack, are you guilty?' He looked steadily at me and said, 'Dad, I swear to you I know nothing about this terrible thing.'"

"He said he was confident of winning freedom at his preliminary hearing."

The father quoted the son as saying, "Thurmond is apparently protecting someone. I don't know why he drew me into this thing."

The son explained his association with Thomas H. Thurmond, alleged accomplice also lynched here last night, for "one reason—to sell him a second-hand automobile."

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 27.—California vigilantes today invoked lynch law to punish kidnaping and murder.

In a fierce throwback to the tumultuous days of '49, they stormed the county jail here, seized two confessed kidnapers and murderers, stripped the clothes from their bodies, strung them to Sycamore trees in the public square and then attempted to make a pyre out of the body of one of their victims.

They hanged Jack Holmes and Thomas H. Thurmond, who admitted the abduction and killing of Brooke L. Hart, 22, Santa Clara University graduate and son of a wealthy San Jose family last November 8, twelve hours after his mutilated body had been recovered from San Francisco Bay.

Battle Officers

They fought a terrific pitched battle with the combined forces of Sheriff William J. Emig, Chief of Police J. N. Black and the State Highway Patrol.

They battered down the doors of the jail, dragged the two accused men from the jail across the street from St. James Park, the public square of San Jose, and strung them to two sycamore trees as 10,000 men and women looked on.

Three Homes Are Burned At Polk

Fire For Time Threatens Big State Institution Housing
3,000 Inmates

(International News Service)
FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 27.—Fire authorities today were seeking to establish the cause of fire which burned three houses to the ground at Polk, near here.

For a time, the blaze threatened the Polk State school for feeble-minded. It houses 3,000 inmates.

Firemen succeeded in bringing the fire under control after a strenuous battle against ice during a blinding snowstorm.

Arthur Mometer

When the streets are slick and the ice is thick or thin as the case may be, and your tires are worn, and the rubber is torn, and the road you can hardly see, it's then that you long for your fireside and the chair that is deep and wide, where you can smoke and improve your mind, while the elements rage outside. For a night like that isn't fit for man, especially in a car, and the highways are not very pleasant spots, if you happen to travel far. So when nights are slick and the ice is thick, from the highways my friend stay away, for cars will skid, and the poles are hard, it's cool, thirty four today.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Heavy snows and rain in the Pymatuning swamp area have caused the Shenango River to rise several feet.

No new detours are shown on the State Highway Bulletin for the period ending December 7, which is on display in the lobby of The News.

Weather conditions changed most rapidly on Sunday afternoon and evening. From a mild showery day, the weather changed to a regular blizzard. Streets which had been slushy froze rapidly, and by evening there was ice everywhere, making travel most difficult.

Dear Pa. New:

I have noticed quite an activity in the city of tree planting especially the evergreens. And I have noticed that many of the evergreens that have been in the ground for three to four years are shedding now this is due to lack of water. Evergreens should be well watered at this time as winter is coming on, for young trees whose root system dry-freeze are liable to die, and the trees whose roots are moist-frozen have a hundred per cent chance to go through the winter and live in the spring. Red spiders thrive around the evergreen tree, until it gets real cold, and a good cure for red spiders is lots of water now.

OWEN PENFIELD FOX.

Driving 20 miles from Columbus, O., to New Castle last night in a swirling snowstorm, with nothing but an icy roadway beneath, was no fun, a local motorist attested today. He reported that auto wrecks dotted the entire route.

THIRD PERSON NOW SOUGHT IN CHICAGO CASE

Wynekoop maintained both her home and office. Those who lived in the house with the 62-year-old woman doctor were her son, Earle; the murdered girl, and Miss Enid Hennessey, high school teacher and a lodger there for ten years.

Authorities moved meanwhile to present voluminous evidence before the grand jury in an effort to obtain an indictment against Earle as well as his mother. The son's "confession," made he admitted, to save his mother, has been shattered by police confirmation of his original alibi—that he was enroute with a friend to Kansas City when Rheta was chloroformed and shot through the back as she lay nude on the operating table.

Accessory Charge

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Earle Wynekoop was charged with accessory before the fact of the operating-table murder of his wife, Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, in felony court today and was held without bail for further hearing Dec. 4.

The warrant was issued on request of Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty over the protests of Defense Counsel Frank J. Tyrrell, who asked a delay until a habeas corpus petition before Judge Joseph David had been heard.

Young Wynekoop was taken to the felony court from the detective bureau by three policemen. In the courtroom Earle sat perfectly at ease, chatting with detectives. He was clean-shaven, immaculately dressed and confident.

When newspaper photographers appeared, he posed patiently, the while discussing the merits of various kinds of film, negatives and cameras. Once he said with a grin: "I'm charged with murder. I guess some of these photos make me look the part."

hang me!" Thurmond, slender, pale youth, pleaded as the crowd at the jail, numbering about 500, took him from his cell.

Cheering madly, the lynchers dragged Thurmond out of the jail, an old red brick building of California's early days, and across the street to the park, which had filled with well dressed men and women on their way home after the shows and with students from Santa Clara and San Jose State College.

"A rope," a big, burly man in overalls, but with uncalloused hands, cried.

A noose fell over the limb off a tree as automobile spotlights lighted the scene like a ghastly episode of the stage.

"Please, please," Thurmond still cried, but his eyes grew glassy and he fainted at the sight of the rope.

"Up with him," cried the throng, and the youth swung in a slight breeze.

"He didn't give Brooke Hart a 'hee,' cried the burly man as he tugged on the rope.

Cheers went up again.

A few minutes later Holmes, fighting feverishly against his captors, followed his confederate to eternity.

"You can't do it," he shouted, as he lashed out.

Many fists beat him to the ground.

He was raised.

New Trial Granted In Trimble Action

Judge R. L. Hildebrand Affirmed In Decision By Supreme Court Today

In an opinion handed down by the supreme court sitting at Philadelphia today Judge R. L. Hildebrand's decision granting a new trial in the case of Martha D. Trimble against the Mennel Milling Company was affirmed.

This is a case in which Mrs. Trimble sued the Mennel Milling Company, of Toledo, O., for the death of her husband John M. Trimble and secured a verdict for $13,750.

On January 28th, 1930, John M. Trimble, with his son Kenneth Trimble was coming from Meadville to New Castle in an automobile. When about six miles from Adamsville, Kenneth saw two cars approaching from the opposite direction. One of them passed the Trimble car. The other belonging to the Mennel Milling Company, collided with the Trimble car. It was claimed that the Mennel car was across the center of the road.

John N. Trimble, was injured, but later so far recovered as to be able to go to work, but still complained of the death of the ribs. He died on November 14th, 1930. Suit was brought by Mrs. Trimble on the grounds that the death resulted from injuries received in the auto accident. The defense claimed that Trimble had hardening of the arteries, a slight heart tremor, and that death was due to coronary thrombosis.

Several physicians were called to whom hypothetical questions were asked. Their answers were somewhat different, but in the main they were inclined to the opinion that death had been caused by coronary thrombosis.

After the verdict, which was one of the largest ever given in the local court in an automobile case, the defense asked for a new trial, on the grounds that there was no cause of action, and that there should have been binding instructions for the defendant.

After arguments Judge Hildebrand granted a new trial and the supreme court was affirmed this decision. The case will now be tried again.

Mystery Plane Seen In Storm

West Virginia Citizens See Plane Battling Snow Storm During Night

(International News Service)
ELKINS, W. Va., Nov. 27.—Efforts to establish the identity of an airplane which circled this city during a blinding snowstorm last night were being made today.

The pilot apparently had lost his course.

After circling Elkins the plane departed and was later reported over Parsons, 23 miles east of here. No word of the plane has been received since.

The only landing field in this district is located near here and aviation authorities in this regard said it is doubtful if the plane could have escaped from this section and made a safe landing.

It was in this district that Lt. Bobbitt crashed two years ago in similar weather.

A high wind and low ceiling made flying extremely hazardous in this region last night.

WAITRESSES TO SERVE DRINKS

Bryce Pinchot, wife of the governor, in opposing the restriction on waitresses.

"If we were to return to the old saloon then it would have been right and just right to eliminate women from the dispensing of liquor," Miss Carr said. "Happily we are not returning to the old saloon days."

Mrs. Pinchot was one of the signers of a petition asking that the bill be amended to permit waitresses to serve liquor.

Governor Pinchot denied any agreement had been reached to establish only 300 state liquor stores in Pennsylvania or that any number of stores had been allocated to any city or county.

"The state liquor stores will be set up by the liquor control board," the governor said, "and the board is not yet in existence."

It has been generally understood that the board was considering establishment of 300 state stores throughout the state by January 2, when the stores provisions of the McClure control bill would go into effect. More establishments would be opened later if business warrants.

Beaten And Gassed In San Jose Mob Action Last Night

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Although struck in the back with a brick, hit on the shoulder with a club, gassed and struck on the head with a butt of a gun, Ralph B. Jordan, International News Service staff correspondent, "came through" with the lynching story of Jack Holmes and Thomas H. Thurmond.

While still choking and gasping from the effects of the gas, and lame from injuries received in the first rioting, Jordan flashed the news to the San Francisco I. N. S. bureau from San Jose that the jail doors were being battered in.

Following the mob to St. James Park, where the two men were hanged, Jordan was struck upon the head with the butt of a gun when he went to the aid of an embattled cameraman.

Then Jordan sat down at his typewriter and coolly wrote a graphic eye-witness story which was transmitted here on a special wire set up to the scene while the lynching was in progress.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Douds, 502 Croton avenue, at 3:00 p. m. the program was opened by a very impressive devotional period led by Mrs. J. Norman Martin.

Mrs. Frank Woods then told a story of India, "Three Knocks in the Dark" by Dr. Ida Scudder, who is a missionary in that Eastern land. Mrs. J. Johnston Fisher told of the interesting and important work being done by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gustafson, who recently returned to India after a furlough spent in this city. These missionaries are supported by the First Presbyterian church.

Featuring the afternoon was a talk on "Alaska" by a guest speaker, Miss Rosina McGurk, who spent a vacation in that country this year. Her address was lively with vivid descriptions of the scenery, customs and inhabitants of the Yukon territory. She displayed a number of photos and also some sketches which she had made at different points.

During the social period which followed refreshments were served by Mrs. Douds and her associate hostesses, Mrs. E. E. Seavy, Mrs. John Foster, Mrs. John Elder and Mrs. J. Johnston Fisher.

DEADLY

CARBON monoxide gas is deadly—double so because the victim receives no warning of its presence. A few revolutions of the motor will turn a small garage into a lethal gas death chamber. The gas is odorless and invisible. Chemists declare that less than three minutes is required to generate a lethal dose of the gas, even when the victim is strong, and that much less time is required to kill persons with less sound constitutions.

There is one motorist who need feel no fear of this deadly gas. He or she is the driver who opens the garage doors and a car window before starting the motor in a garage. Carbon monoxide gas never strikes in open quarters.

It is a great temptation, these cold mornings, to tarry a few moments in the closed garage and warm up the motor and car before backing out into the frosty air. Just how often this temptation is not resisted can be told by the increasing number of deaths due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

The contempt in which many persons are wont to hold repeated warnings is demonstrated by these preventable deaths. For a little convenience or a moment's comfort they risk their lives. You ask why. Why does a hunter drag his gun through a fence or use it as a walking stick?

FRUIT CAKE

Ma's makin' fruit cake! Don't dare to get under her feet now, for her hind is on candied citron peel and spice and how many cups of flour and just the right proportion of brown sugar.

Fruit cake has the delightful quality that the older it is, the better it tastes. They bake it with a paper wrapper on—womenfolk are laughing at this description, but never mind—and the whole house smells of fruit cake all the evening.

Just the top of a fruit cake, with its little hills that hide nuts in them and little upsticking bits of cherry or raisin, its mysterious valleys that are full of sweet congealment, its browned-crustiness—oh, gee, Ma, can't we have just one piece apiece tonight, and the rest do for Christmas?

Ma is firm. She has had these sumptuous supplications before, and she knows how to be firm when firmness is required. The fruit cake is the first thing she prepares for Christmas dinner, just as it is the last thing to be consumed.

And the best part of it is, that usually when you come to the fruit cake part of the main Yuletide meal, you're so full that there's no room for as much fruit cake as you'd like to eat, and so there's always enough of that, at least, to bring the New Year's dinner to a fitting and fine conclusion.

OCEAN FLIGHT SKEPTICS

Landlubbers of the flying age cannot bring themselves to the conviction that transoceanic flying on a commercial basis is an immediate prospect. In their skepticism they overlook the fact that men regarded by some as authorities on the subject accept scheduled flights by heavier-than-air craft as a matter of course.

Dr. James H. Kimball, the weather mentor for all transatlantic flights from Lindbergh on, sees but one formidable obstacle yet to be removed and is confident that improvements to aero navigation instruments will soon eliminate it. This hazard is ocean weather.

Because the airplane is still largely a fair weather transportation medium, Doctor Kimball predicts that the southern course by way of Bermuda and the Azores will be the first transatlantic flying route between North America and Europe. This route is generally free of fogs and its storms are local.

Apparently this authority considers the airplane mechanically fit for the grueling grind of spanning the ocean with heavy cargoes of passengers, freight and mail. His is a glowing tribute to the engineers who are rapidly perfecting the flying machine, and to the world's transport pilots.

Man cannot alter the weather but he can conquer it.

BACK TO THE WOODS

Forty per cent of American industries use wood as a raw material, ninety million Americans live in frame houses and in normal times the railroads require a hundred million ties a year. This is the background of the drama which the President's Civilian Conservation Corps is staging in the nation's forests. The actors are three hundred thousand young men, distributed over 1,468 camps.

Besides helping support their own families by contributions, usually of $25 each, from their monthly pay envelopes, and winning health and strength for themselves, these young men have been building bridges, constructing roads and trails, clearing out the debris and rotten timber that constitute a standing fire menace, planting trees, and preparing cut-over lands for future plantings.

One other thing perhaps not in the program the young workers are accomplishing. Their activities have resulted in what a Washington authority calls "a remarkable education of the masses in one of our economic problems which, under other conditions, would have required decades of intensive effort." They are making America forest-conscious.

It was high time. It will be well if the country, its forests at or beyond the danger point, takes the trail blazed by European countries, which had been in the same predicament, and work back to the point where the annual increase of the woods will supply the annual needs.—Cincinnati Times-Star

POSSIBLE THOUGHTS

Your foot's asleep. You held it too long in one position. . . . Now it tingles. You can't stand on it. It crumples under you when you try. You must wait until the blood circulates freely and easily in it once more. . . . Your brain and your heart can go to sleep, too. Give your brain no thinking, give your heart no feeling, and they'll go to sleep and be useless. . . . You can prove that. . . . You always know when your foot is asleep, but the pity of it is that you rarely know when your brain and heart are taking a nap.

Is life a blank page on which we write? Or is it a blank page on which an unseen hand has written unseen words which become visible only in the warmth and excitement of living? You answer. I can't.

"Be your age!" a small boy once said to me. . . . "Be my age?" thought I to him. "Yes, that's a fair idea, but which age shall I be? How old am I? Part of me is younger than you, small fellow; part of me was always older than you may ever be. And how can I ever decide that vexing question as to which of my many ages I should be?" . . . But I didn't speak those questions aloud. Instead, I tackled him and we wrestled over and over on the lawn, nothing more was said about the matter.

Ralph and I discussed which were the best years we'd known, and we agreed that they were those between 25 and 30. . . . It wasn't until several days later that I wondered why neither of us had said the best years were the ones we are living right now. . . . I still don't know.

In the sunlight all things are clear and sharp, and the earth has no secrets from us. . . . In the moonlight objects are blurred and the dark shadows hide ugliness. . . . Nearly everyone thinks that moonlight is beautiful; but we accept the sunlight and do not prize it overmuch. . . . The sunlight, however, is the sparkling transparent truth and more beautiful by far than moonlight.

IT TAKES TIME

A Hollywood matron tells about the husband of her cook, who wanted to become a butler.

"I said I would train him," said the mistress.

"We were having a dinner party the next night, and I told him to come in and say, 'Dinner is served.' He did it nicely, but we didn't hurry and soon he came back and said:

"I told you I was having dinner served, and I tell you now that if you don't come pretty soon it's that kind of dinner that it'll spill on you!"

DON'T BE SUSPICIOUS

Why are you so suspicious of nearly everyone, even members of your own family?

Is it that you, yourself, are not true-blue?

Or is it that you have been so taken in in past years by those you had thought to be square and who proved to be otherwise?

But because of these experiences you should not allow yourself to be skeptical of the good intentions or the principles of everyone you meet.

The majority of the people of the world are not frauds.

Most persons try to do the right thing at all times.

What a lot of comfort and pleasure you miss by your mistrust of others.

There is not a selfish motive back of every good deed.

The great majority of the charitable are sincere.

The one who extends favors to you is not always doing it to take advantage of you in some way, later.

The person who displays an interest in you, in most cases, has the best of motives and is not trying to climb on your shoulders.

It is not surprising that you get so little pleasure out of society when your active imagination pictures the words and deeds of others as insincere?

LAST INDIAN SUMMER DAY
An Indian summer day was born within a cloud of mist at morn.

A calm, sweet infancy it knew. And then the golden sun broke through.

Flood-lighting, for its middle age. A crimsoned and emurpled stage.

The day itself knew naught of care. It looked on beauty everywhere.

The walls of life appeared to be hung thick with ancient tapestry. While at the edge of field and wood

Tall grenadiers in scarlet stood.

Men walked beneath a sky of blue That Indian summer daytime through.

And in the splendor seemed to see A hint of what this world could be.

Forgetful of their griefs, it seemed The glory they beheld they dreamed.

Late in the afternoon a breeze Rustled the garments of the trees.

Far in the West a cloud appeared, Foreboding trouble as it neared.

Rain followed with the setting sun, And bleak November had begun!

The battle over standing-up versus sitting down drinking continues to rage in New York following the announcement by the state liquor commission that beer only may be served over base, and that all other alcoholic drinks must be consumed at tables. No one seems certain whether drinks served at a table tend to multiply more rapidly than bar-drinks or not, and champions of both views have come forward to defend their opinion with vehemence. The local branch of the Federal Bar Association, which has held an open forum on the question proved to be overwhelmingly in favor of standing up to imbibe, one voice only being raised in favor of the sit-down ruling. The lone defender is Professor Edwin Seligman of Columbia, who insists that drinking at tables will encourage leisurely dining habits which are the hallmark of civilization.

Observed In New Personnel

Interpretations Differ As To Power Exercised By President And As To Effect Of Changes On Monetary Policies

Opinions differ as to relative merits of the old and new figures in the personnel of the United States Treasury Department, but it is widely believed that, following the illness of Secretary Woodin, the resignation of Undersecretary Acheson, and the appointment of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as Acting Secretary, will have a tendency to weld the personnel of that branch of the government into a more compact body than it has been in recent months. Some observers hold that the President himself is the actual Treasury force.

"Stable prosperity depends upon fair play to the farmer," declares the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS, with the belief that "under Mr. Morgenthau's direction, the movement to raise commodity prices will be pushed more vigorously than before," and the conclusion that "probably the farmer's dollar will become even more the government's concern." The OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, holding that "neither the President nor his acting Secretary the Treasury is willing to resort to any of the radical methods urged that would imperil the essential soundness of the country," and adding that "both are in accord in favoring the gold-purchase plan, which day by day can be kept under strict control," concludes that "the choice of Mr. Morgenthau may be taken as an indication that this plan is to be firmly and courageously pursued until the event proves that it is effective—or that it is not."

"Morgenthau may be expected to give instant effect to the Administration's experimental policies," says the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL. "The youngest man ever to be charged with the responsibility of running the federal treasury—he is 42—Morgenthau has plenty of opportunity to show what he can do. If he manages to cut the red tape and get action on the many federal relief measures of which the treasury is the source, the country will say that President Roosevelt has made the right choice."

"The Administration seems to be moving definitely and rapidly toward the left," thinks the BOSTON HERALD, while the CHARLESTON EVENING POST holds that "there is no reason to doubt that Mr. Woodin would be glad to avoid the responsibility for carrying out the policies of the administration," and the BALTIMORE SUN, failing to endorse the new Secretary, advises the President to "guard in every possible way against further disturbance of public confidence." The SPRINGFIELD UNION suggests that "it seems to be assumed that Secretary Morgenthau will conform without much difficulty to the President's policies, whatever they may prove to be."

Announcing that "inflationary sentiment triumphs," the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER comments: "President Roosevelt was, manifestly, determined to through with his plans for careful and cautious in-

Reading the Skies. On this date in 1872, a great rain of stars descended and terrified Europe. Similar occurrences, usually in autumn, and notably in October of this year, have provided astronomers with basis for the conclusion that such meteoric showers are disintegrated fragments of a comet. In many of these showers, there seems to be no radiant point, the meteors being observed as if they came as on the horizon and in all directions. The trajectories in most cases are short. The stars may fall at the rate of 60 or 70 a minute for hours.

Notables Born This Date.—François d'Aubigne, Marquis de Maintenon, b. 1635, penurious daughter of worthless parents who became nurse-maid to the children of King Louis XIV of France, who was three years her junior, came to rule the ruler, finally became at 50 his wife, survived him, reverted to poverty.  Robert R. Livingston, b. 1747, statesman and inventor. He was one of the committee which drafted the Declaration of Independence, but did not sign it; was secretary of foreign affairs before the U. S. had a department of state; served as minister to France and arranged the Louisiana Purchase.  Cornelius Vanderbilt II, b. 1843, grandson of the unlettered ferryman who founded the family fortune, son of the man who said "The public be damned!" The millions amassed by the thrift and luck of his grandfather and the forthrightness and high-handedness of his father were multiplied without effort on his part by the growth of the country, leaving him free to win social recognition for his "upstart" family from grudging aristocracy, and his wife became the social arbiter of the country.  Charles Austin Beard, b. 1874, distinguished American historian.

1247.—Robin Hood died, according to the tradition which also identifies him as the Earl of Huntingdon: a significant life, did not let it spoil him, became the greatest lyric poet of his time, acquired a popularity that has endured 19 centuries. Excerpt from Horatian lyrics (translated by Wm. Cowper): He that holds fast the golden mean, And lives contentedly between, Feels little the wants that pinch the poor. Nor plagues that haunt the rich man's door, Imbittering all his state.

1875.—Mary Anderson, aged 16, most celebrated American actress of her day, made her debut at Louisville, Ky., as Juliet, a few months after she emerged from a convent. (A few years ago, as Mrs. Antonio de Navarro, she retired to a retreat in England.)

Big Gatherings For Westminster

Colleges And Universities To Send Delegates To Conferences

THREE SCHEDULED FOR NEXT MONTH

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 27—Delegates and representatives of a number of colleges and universities will be guests of Westminster College at three gatherings during the month of December. In addition to these three gatherings, there will be a number of guests on the campus for the installation of Kappa Alpha Alpha as a chapter of Beta Phi Alpha, and two college basketball teams will visit here. Liberal arts colleges of western Pennsylvania meet here in their regular conference on December 9. Members of the faculties of Grove City, Geneva, Allegheny, Thiel and Westminster will attend sessions which start at 2:30 and run until 10 in the evening. From 200 to 250 professors, instructors and college officials will be present at this meeting.

Colleges of the tri-state district will send representative debate teams here for a debate conference on December 15 and 16. To date, Geneva, Baldwin-Wallace, Waynesburg and St. Francis teams have signified their intention of attending, and four or five other colleges are yet to be heard from. In all probability, there will be two teams of two men each from each of eight colleges. Three rounds of debates, a quarter-final round, a semi-final round, and finals. Through this elimination method, the winning team will be determined on Dec. 16, and a silver loving cup will be presented at a banquet to be held at 6:30 in the evening. Approximately 60 team members and coaches will attend this.

National officers of Beta Phi Alpha sorority will be guests of the college from December 13 to 16 at which time Kappa Alpha Alpha sorority will be installed as the 29th chapter of the national organization. In addition to the installing officers and national and district chapter representatives, a number of alumnae of Kappa Alpha Alpha will be on hand to become members of the national.

Young people of high school and college age from churches in all parts of the district will spend four days at Westminster in a religious conference under the direction of the Christian Laymen's Association from December 29 to January 1. Dr. Arthur Purkiss, Pittsburgh is in of the conference which is being sponsored by Mr. Walter Fraser, of Pittsburgh. Delegates will be quartered in dormitories and fraternity houses of the college, since the college students will be on their Christmas recess at the time.

Adrian College of Michigan and Wheaton College of Illinois will be on the campus on December 30 and January 1 for basketball games.

Townships Want Roads Improved Under C. W. A. Plan

Visit Commissioners To See If County Will Bear Expense Of Materials

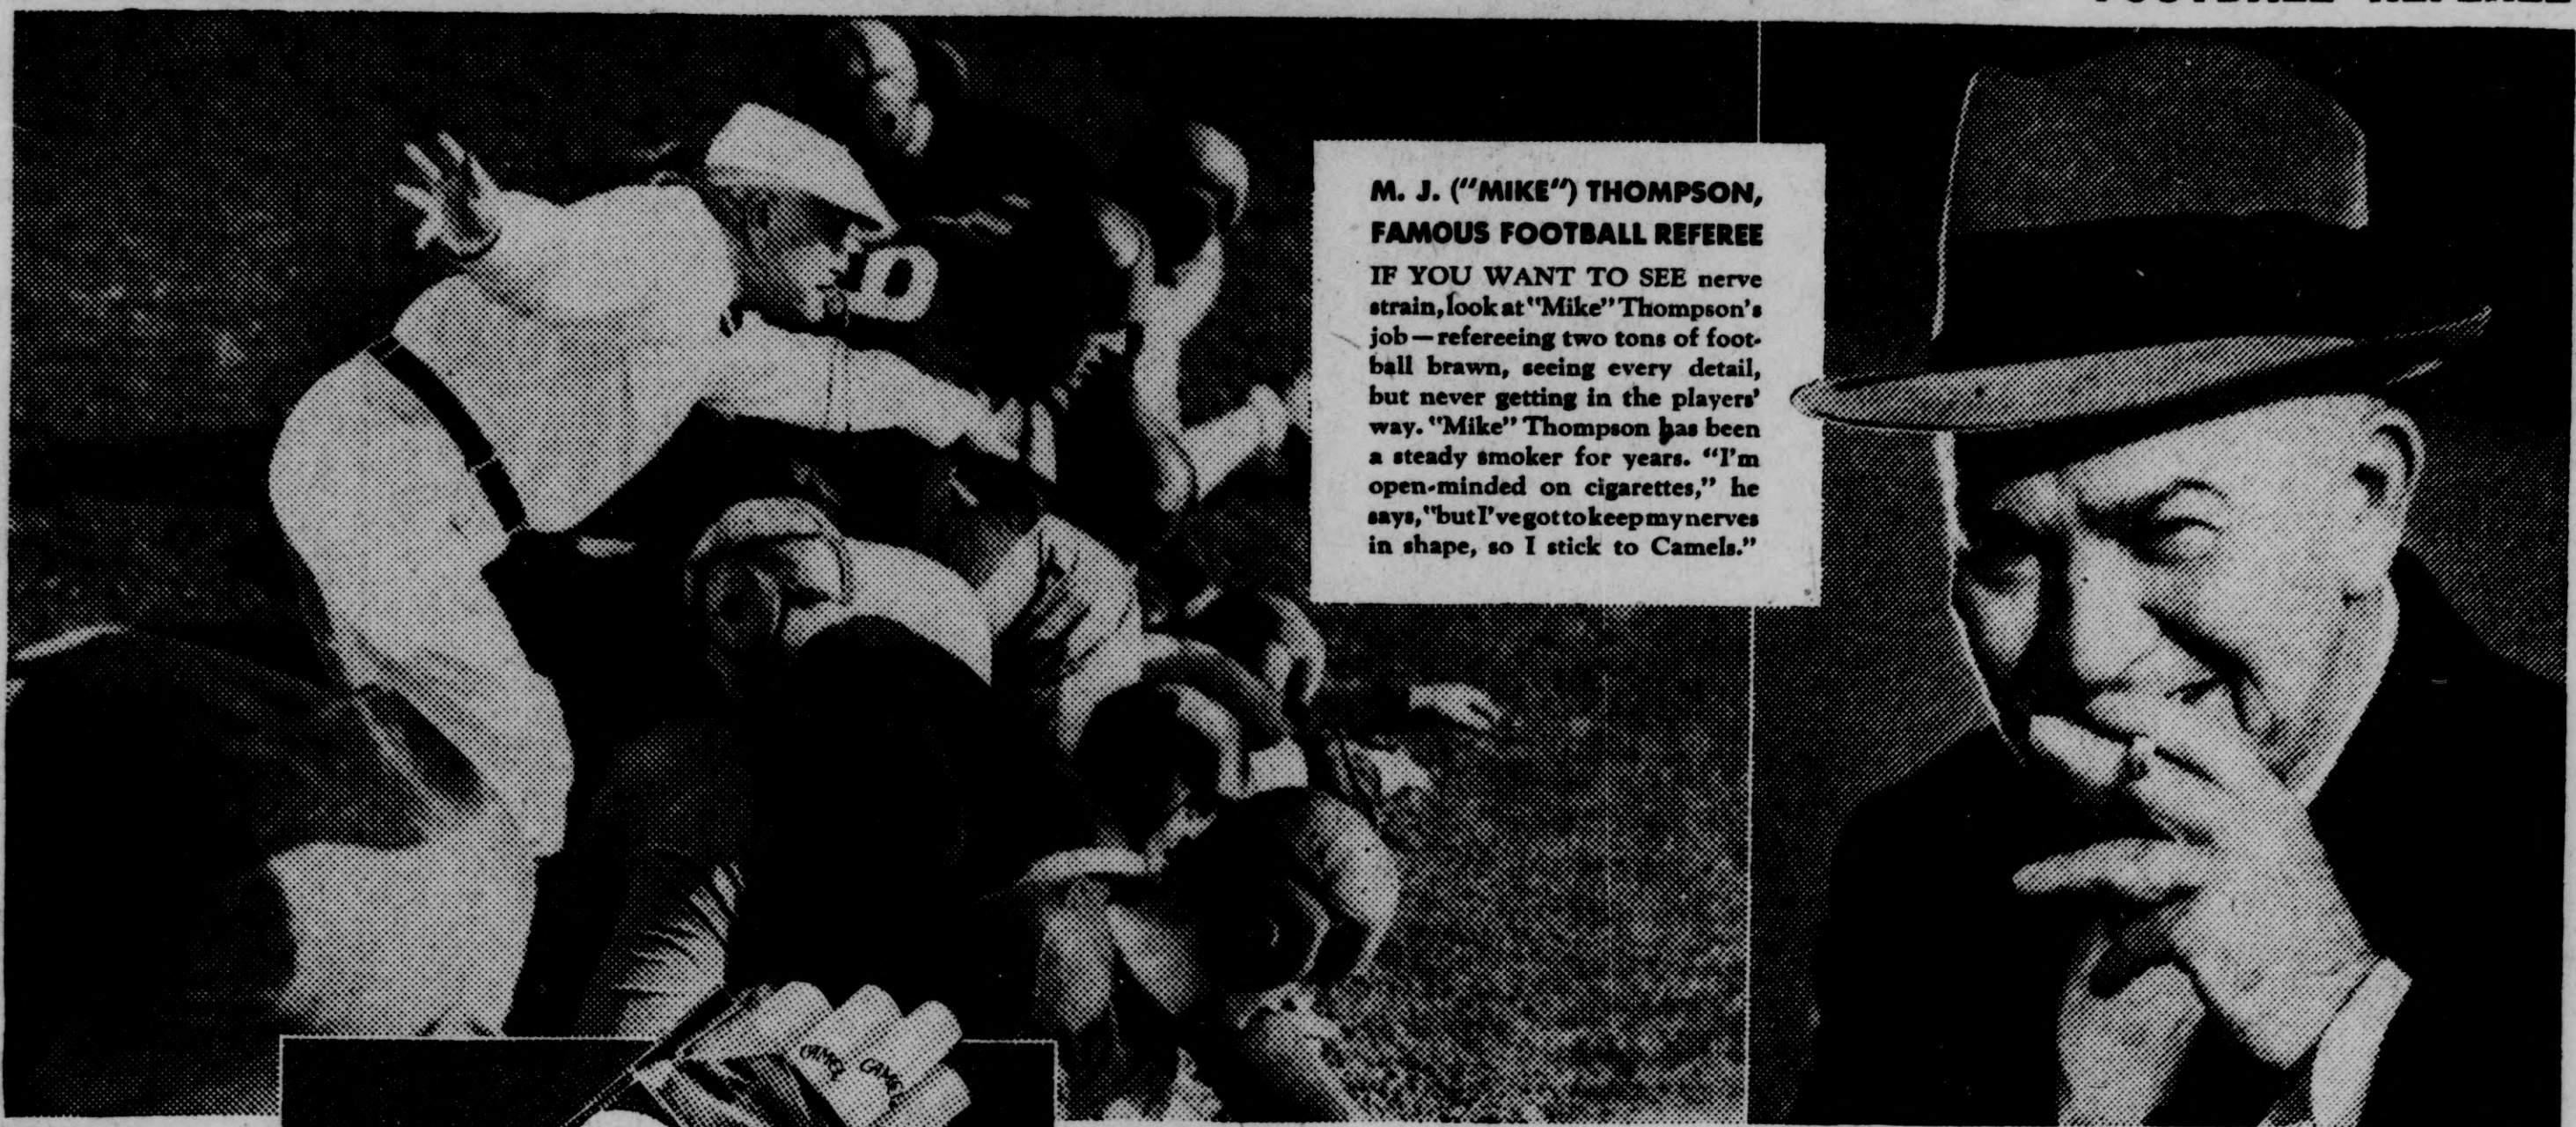

Since the appointment of L. B. Round as Civil Works Administrator, committees from four townships have called upon the county commissioners with projects which they would like to have put through under the proposed plans if the county will bear the expense of providing the necessary materials.

Plaingrove township wants a road improved under the Pinchot plan, from the Pollock store on the Plaingrove road east to the county line. Shenango township wants a road improved from the old Pittsburgh road near Rose stop, east to the New Castle-Elwood road. Eton would like to have a road improved from the borough east to the state line. Pulaski township is also wanting a section of road built, but commissioners were uncertain as to the location.

Under the Civil Works plan the labor is paid for by funds provided by the state, but it is necessary for the subdivisions to which the money is furnished to provide the material. The commissioners say they do not have the money to pay for the material necessary for township improvements. They suggest that the townships furnish their own money for material. The material would be a small item compared to the cost of labor which would be furnished with no cost to the township.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES

TO BE A FOOTBALL REFEREE

M. J. ("MIKE") THOMPSON, FAMOUS FOOTBALL REFEREE

IF YOU WANT TO SEE nerve strain, look at "Mike" Thompson's job—refereeing two tons of football brawn, seeing every detail, but never getting in the players' way. "Mike" Thompson has been a steady smoker for years. "I'm open-minded on cigarettes," he says, "but I've got to keep my nerves in shape, so I stick to Camels."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

M. J. ("Mike") Thompson, football's most famous referee, has to keep his nerves healthy. He says: "Because nothing can be allowed to interfere with healthy nerves I smoke Camels. I have tried them all—given every popular brand a chance to show what it can offer. Camels don't upset my nerves even when I smoke constantly. And the longer I smoke them the more I come to appreciate their mildness and rich flavor." Many smokers who have changed to Camels report that their nerves are no longer irritable... "jumpy." Switch to Camels yourself. You will find that Camels do not jangle your nerves—or tire your taste.

Rotarians Hear Of County Relief

Dr. G. S. Bennett Speaks At Noon-Hour Meeting Of Rotary Club

How the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board is going about its task of caring for over 3,400 needy families in the county was described for the benefit of New Castle Rotarians by Dr. G. S. Bennett, the board's chairman, today.

In a 15-minute review of relief activities of the past year, Dr. Bennett imparted to the club men an impressive picture of the county board's work. Dr. Bennett spoke at the club's weekly luncheon in The Castleton.

The relief head praised the government's CWA and the appointment of Rotarian L. B. Round as county administrator. He said that today twice as many people are on the relief rolls than were at the beginning of last winter. He praised the county's physicians for their splendid cooperation in rendering emergency medical service.

During the course of his prepared message the county board chairman referred to the criticism directed to the overhead of the board's activities. He explained the expenditures adding that "I'm serving as some don't believe, for the grand sum of nothing—but I'm willing to." The Rotarians applauded him heartily.

Dr. Bennett and Administrator Round of the CWA answered questions of the clubmen jointly at the conclusion of Dr. Bennett's remarks.

Mr. Round in his post of head of emergency civil works program, also serves the county gratis.

Federal Liquor Code Is Ready

Despite Concentrated Protests By Distillers, Code Is Ready For Presentation

RIGID RULES TO BE LAID DOWN

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Despite concerted protests by distillers to whom only minor concessions have been granted, the administration's liquor code providing rigid federal control of the industry was ready today for presentation to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Week end conferences between a committee of distillers and the president's special inter-departmental committee failed to dent the administration's determination to drive through the major items of the code's provisions. Observers believe this group is prepared to recommend imposition of the code if the industry refuses voluntary acceptance.

The code provides direct control of the industry by a federal alcohol control board. The control administration would be vested with dictatorial powers over production, prices and trade practices.

Hearing on the brewers' code were slated for today, and Wednesday has been set as hearing date for the importers' code. Vintners' and wholesalers' codes also must be formulated prior to repeal date if the administration is to keep pace with hearing repeal.

Wallace Talks With Roosevelt On Liquor Code

Secretary Of Agriculture At Warm Springs, Ga., For Conference With President

(International News Service)
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 27.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace came to the "little White House" here today to talk with President Roosevelt about the manufacture and distribution of liquor.

The agriculture department chief was ready to explain details of the nearly completed NRA distillers code under which whisky will be regulated after the effective date of repeal and before congress enacts permanent legislation; he arrived here by motor early this morning and hoped to get away tomorrow night.

Go Over Code.
There are no controversial points of regulation at present, Wallace said, but there are several matters in the code which he wants the president to go over as soon as possible. The code was virtually complete when he left Washington on Saturday, the agriculture chief added, and he expects a copy of the document here by mail late today.

As drafted at present, Wallace explained, the code gives the industry considerable power to regulate itself, but leaves a final power of initiation or veto in the hands of the government.

Conferences between the president and Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson were ahead of Wallace on Mr. Roosevelt's program for today.

The executive expected to see the agriculture secretary late this afternoon, nevertheless.

Extend Time For Filing Data On Stored Liquor
Will Take Some Little Time For Distilleries To Check On Amount Of Liquor

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—Indefinite extensions of time to report the amount of liquor Pennsylvania distilleries have on hand were granted today, the last day to file such reports under the Corder Act imposing $2 per gallon tax on pre-repeal liquor.

Secretary of Revenue Leon D. Metzger said some distilleries might make a tentative report today, adding that it would be physically impossible for some of them to make an inventory of their stock.

Only 200 reports had been filed with the department here at noon today, most of these being from central Pennsylvania distilleries and pharmacists with small amounts of liquor and alcohol on hand.

Decision In Hospital Case

Decision Of Supreme Court Upholds Decision In County Court

In a decision handed down today by the State Supreme Court, the Lawrence County Court is sustained in its opinion in the case of Smith-Farris Company against the Jameson Memorial hospital. The plaintiff is refused the right to recover except for approximately $325 worth of extras.

The suit rose out of a mechanic's lien filed by the plaintiff against the hospital over work done when the hospital was built. Suit was filed for $4,825 and the Lawrence County court refused the plaintiff the right to recover. The company then went to the Supreme Court and this court upholds the lower court with the exception of the extras amounting to about $325.

At the time the case was filed some money was left on deposit with the Citizens National Bank to take care of any emergencies so that the judgment of $325 will be paid without any loss to the hospital.

The situation grew serious when officials of the livestock handlers union, which ordered the strike, claimed today that 7,000 workers in all had joined the movement.

Stores Must Post NRA Group Signs

Must Designate Group Which They Are Operating Under In Public Place

Inquiries have been received by Marcus Feuchtwanger, head of the New Castle Compliance board, relative to the provisions of the retail code of the NRA, which make it mandatory to post a sign telling which group the store is operating under.

The provision for this in the code reads as follows, Mr. Feuchtwanger states:

"Every retail store must post and keep posted in a conspicuous place, a notice indicating the group under which it is operating, its store hours, and the basic work week of its employees."

"It is also suggested that stores also post a copy of the wage and hour provisions of the code."

Forms prescribed by the administration may be obtained at the office of the compliance board in the Greer building.

New York Lawyer Is Under Guard At Decatur, Alabama

Two Burly Guards Brought From New York Are Barred

NEGRO ATTACKERS AGAIN ON TRIAL

(International News Service)
COURTROOM, DECATUR, Ala., Nov. 27.—Two burly personal bodyguards of Samuel S. Liebowitz, chief defense counsel, were barred from the courtroom by Circuit Judge W. W. Callahan today as the state of Alabama, for the third time, began retrial of the sensational Scottsboro case.

Liebowitz brought the two bodyguards, Harold Fox and Archie Daly, with him from New York. An armed deputy sheriff was assigned by the court to safeguard the New York attorney after he told of receiving threats against his life.

Judge Callahan took the action after a sharp clash with Liebowitz. The 70-year-old judge had ordered the space before the bar cleared of all but members of the staff of state and defense counsel and court officials.

Guards Are Chased
Liebowitz requested that "my two assistants" be permitted to remain. "Are they attorneys?" Callahan asked.

"No, they're my assistants," Liebowitz countered.

The two heavily-jowled guards, enormous men weighing nearly 300 pounds each, were seated immediately behind the defense attorney. They had formed a flying wedge to carry Liebowitz through the crowd which jammed the corridors of the small red brick courthouse.

Callahan glared at the assistants and sharply said:

"They'll have to go. They're not attorneys and have no business before the court. I'll make no exceptions."

Escorted by a deputy, the guards left the courtroom.

They, as all others who entered the courtroom, had been "frisked" for firearms by deputies guarding the door.

BULLDOG COMPANION HALTS HITCH-HIKER

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore.—Wayne McCall, 16 year old hitch-hiker from Toledo, Ill., will be on his way to Los Angeles as soon as Jiggs, his hiking companion, a three year old bulldog gets better.

Jiggs came to grief at Auburn, Wash., when he cut his jaw on a broken bottle while boarding a freight train with his young master. The boy was unable to get treatment for his "pal" until they reached Portland where a trained nurse in the emergency hospital dressed Jiggs's wound.

"In Australia we permit ourselves plenty of time in the open air and don't hurry so much. The people seem to be less worried even though we have had our share of the depression."

"America is in too much of a hurry. You are developing a race of neurotics."

Dr. Allen said tuberculosis is less prevalent in Australia because people there get more sunlight.

BLIND CHARLEY LOOKING FORWARD TO THANKSGIVING

Charley Thomas, blind from childhood, had a philosophy all his own, and it pulls him through many tough days and many tough years.

He is looking toward Thanksgiving Day rather optimistically. He is thankful, he says, that he is able to be at the corner of Mill and Washington every day, for one thing. He feels a little old (is 57) and a little tired and weary, but he is thankful that he is able to get around.

Charley would like a good Thanksgiving dinner Thursday. And perhaps he will have just that if enough nickels and dimes find their way into his tin cup. It has been hard sledding for everyone in the past several years and nickels and dimes aren't as plentiful as they used to be, but Charley thinks that maybe, perhaps—

Big Federal Road Program In State

New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—Highways under construction with public works money on November first totaled a greater mileage in Pennsylvania than in all but seven of the forty-eight states, the Bureau of Public Roads reports.

On the first of the month, 231 miles of roads were under construction in Pennsylvania being financed with public works money. Mileage was greater in Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Texas and Wyoming.

In addition to the 231 miles under actual construction in the Keystone State, 454.8 miles had been approved for construction.

Pennsylvania's share of the public works fund for highways totals $18,891,004. Estimated cost of the 231 miles under construction in the state on November first was placed at $2,711,462 and estimated cost of the 454.8 miles approved for construction was named as $7,647,198, or a total of $10,358,660. This left a balance of $8,532,343 in the state's federal allotment available for new highway projects.

Kresel Sentenced To Sing Sing For Indefinite Term

Counsel For Defunct Bank Of United States Goes To Prison

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Isador J. Kresel, counsel for the defunct bank of United States, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in Sing Sing prison, ranging from not less than one year, six months to two years, six months, by Supreme Court Justice George H. Taylor today.

Kresel was convicted of aiding and abetting in the application of funds of one of the banks affiliates.

When word was flashed to him that a mob would soon avenge the terrible death of Brooke Hart, the father said:

"Please, please tell the citizens that they must not be violent. The police and other officers have done fine work and I'm sure the courts will give the kidnappers their proper punishment."

"I am so overcome with my own grief that I am unable to think of that other terrible thing. My sympathy goes out to the families of those two men."

Meanwhile, Hart made plans for burial of his son, whom he had just recently made vice-president of his firm.

Mrs. Hart, the slain youth's mother, begged to see Brooke's body but Sheriff William J. Emle persuaded her not to visit the mortuary.

"Remember Brooke as you last saw him," the sheriff said.

Pure Food And Drugs Bill Will Cause Battle

Hearings To Start Before Committee Of Congress On December 7

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The Tugwell pure food and drug "dictatorship bill" today loomed as one of the most bitter questions before the forthcoming congress despite the ascendancy of economic matters.

The measure, vigorously attacked by foes and as vigorously defended by its backers, already is the subject of more mail received by senators and members of the house than any other proposed legislation.

The fireworks on the measure is expected to start with a hearing by the senate commerce committee on Dec. 7. House hearings are slated to be held immediately after congress convenes.

The measure proposes drastic means to prevent sale of pure foods and drugs, brings cosmetics under the pure food and drug act and sets up a censorship of advertising.

NO CHANGE IN

"CUT" SYSTEM
(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 27.—After campaigning for permission to be absent more often from classes Westminster college students were informed by the faculty that the old "cut" system, allowing a student to be absent the number of times a semester as the credit hours for the course, was still in effect. The science department further modified this by legislating that students with high grades only were allowed to take the maximum number of "cuts".

STREAMLINES FLIRT WITH SHAPES OF NINETIES

HIT THAT COLD

WHERE IT LIVES—in the System!

Don't fool yourself about a cold! It's nothing to be taken lightly nor treated lightly. A cold is an internal infection that will quickly spread within the system unless properly checked. The wise thing to take for a cold is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

First of all, it is distinctly a cold remedy and not a "cure-all". Secondly, it is an internal treatment. Thirdly, it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippiness feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. That's the treatment a cold requires and anything less is taking chances. All druggists sell Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and reject a substitute.

THE NEWS, BY MAIL ONE YEAR, $5.00

Squire Cooper Relates Need Of Dredging Of Big Run Channel

Squire J. Lee Cooper of East Long avenue, one of the oldest residents down the South Side, is a staunch believer that Big Run creek, which is now a flood hazard, should be dredged. This morning Squire Cooper made the statement that years ago, Big Run creek swept out over its banks, and many of the South Side residents suffered much damage to their properties.

"Due to the fact that East Long avenue is higher than West Long avenue, the water in 1861, damaged only properties around South Jefferson street and vicinity," Cooper said. The creek always was a flood menace and will continue to be so until the condition is remedied," the aged alderman said this morning.

Cooper explained that one reason for Big Run being so dangerous, is on Pennsylvania avenue where the run curves. Pennsylvania avenue is somewhat higher at this time. When the water comes around the bend it moves swiftly on account of the down grade. "During a heavy rain it wouldn't take much time for the creek to overflow its bank on account of this bend," Cooper said.

"Dredging the creek would be a good thing because it will protect the South Siders from a flood and also protect their properties," the veteran alderman said. He hopes the city looks into this matter immediately.

Confusion Over New Whisky Tax

Druggists Are Notified That They Are Liable For Floor Tax On Stock

Although the floor tax of $2 per gallon on whisky was taken to mean only whisky in bonded warehouses, druggists have been notified that they owe 25 cents per pint for all the stock they have on hand. They have been sent forms to fill out showing their inventory, but have 90 days in which to pay the tax.

Recently they were sent applications for permits under the new state act, but these permits have not been sent back and under the law they are not supposed to fill prescriptions for medicinal whisky until those permits arrive.

In at least one case it is related that an attorney has advised a druggist not to pay the floor tax yet, as he believes the stocks on hand in stores do not come within the purview of the recent floor tax act.

CONFER HIGHEST HONOR ON LOCAL GIRL SCOUT

First Eaglet Awarded Here

Donna Jean Beall Is Presented With Highest Girl Scout Award Saturday

OVER TWO HUNDRED WITNESS CEREMONY

..... and she must be a woman of honor, word good, deportment good and with an earnest desire to help others and to co-operate in all things that lead to the welfare of her church, her home, her community. All in all, she must be worthy. She having passed all requirements and all examinations, it gives me great honor and great pleasure to confer on Donna Jean Beall the Golden Eaglet."

With these concluding words by Mrs. A. B. Street, chairman of the Court of Awards, the New Castle girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Beall of Fairfield avenue, received the highest medal of Girl Scouting. It was the first such award ever presented in New Castle.

Close to 250 Girl Scouts, members of the Girl Scout Leaders' Association and Council, assembled in the basement of St. Mary's church Saturday afternoon, witnessed the ceremony.

mony. It was an impressive part of the annual Girl Scout camp reunion.

After opening march, salute to the flag, and after repeating the Girl Scout purpose, pledge and laws, the afternoon's program was opened by a welcome from Miss Helen Wilson, chairman of the camp committee.

"In behalf of the camp committee," Miss Wilson said, "It is a pleasure to welcome you on this gala day, not only because it brings us who were camp comrades together again, but because we are to witness the presentation of New Castle's first Golden Eaglet to New Castle's first Girl Scout. Only a Girl Scout can understand what work, what perfection is exemplified by this highest award."

Mrs. W. H. Hanger, leader of the Minnehaha troop, of which Donna Jean Beall is a member, and chairman of the camp committee, accompanied Donna Jean to the west end of the assembly hall where Mrs. Street was in charge of the presentation ceremony.

Gives Requirements

Mrs. Street explained the requirements which had to be met in order to qualify for the award. She mentioned that it was necessary to be a registered Girl Scout for at least three years, that the aspirant must have twenty-one merit badges, fourteen of which are designated, that she must be a cook, a child nurse, a housekeeper, hostess, laundress, swimmer. She must have letters of commendation and must be a woman of honor and of her word.

After the presentation, the large crowd of Girl Scouts and troop executives saluted Donna Jean Beall, Golden Eaglet.

The following program was then given, in charge of the camp committee, bringing the afternoon to a close:

Two anecdotes from the life of Juliet Love, founder of Girl Scouting—by the Never-Never-Land unit, in charge of Mrs. E. W. Guy. This will be a pantomime.

Dramatization of different steps in Girl Scouting—by the Highland Pioneer and Gypsy unit, in charge of Miss Leona Sankey.

Camp songs—by the Robin Hood unit, in charge of Mrs. George Westlake.

A day in "day camp"—dramatized by the girls of "day" camp in charge of Mrs. Sid Smith.

Closing, the scouts formed in a circle and sang "Taps."

Refreshments were served by Troop No. 6.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Steam Shovel Too Tall For Overhead Crossing In Ward

Fails To Get Under Liberty Street Overhead But Has Better Luck At Lafayette

The railroad overhead crossing on Liberty street proved to be an enigma Saturday to the men who were attempting to squeeze a huge steam shovel owned by the Challis Construction Company of Sewickley under it.

After struggling for nearly an hour, during which City Police Officer Frank Reynolds directed traffic, the guardians of the steam shovel decided it was a case of a resistable object arguing with an immovable force.

Someone suggested trying the Lafayette street overhead crossing, and to there the steam shovel hobbled hopefully. It was not much higher, but, after several parts of the shovel were removed, it slid through.

POLITICAL 'BALONEY'

The News-Tribune of Beaver Falls publishes the following:

While next May seems afar off and talk of possible candidates at that month's primaries seems premature, yet it appears that as soon as one election is over talk of the next begins. More than in any year that we recollect the discussion of possible or probable candidates for the several offices to be filled next spring is greater this midyear.

That Dr. J. Howard Swick of Beaver Falls will have stiff opposition at the Republican primary is certain. George T. Weingartner of Lawrence county is being urged by his friends to come out for congress. Mr. Weingartner, former state senator, an astute politician and a real statesman, would be a strong candidate.

It is also reported among the political dopesters that Fred L. Rentz, the fiery newspaper publisher of New Castle, will have "organization" backing for the congressional seat. Lawrence county appears to be much in the political floodlight as Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, also of that county, has announced that she will be an aspirant for congress. She is a sister of Thomas W. Phillips, former congressman from this district.

The hope is that Lawrence county, being beat out of both a congressman and a state senator by Beaver county, will demand the recognition of their candidates for congress. If Lawrence county has several candidates for congress at the Republican primary, a bitterness will follow into the election and it just might be that Sam B. Wilson or some other prominent Democrat might grab off the office after all.

Former Congressman Thomas W. Phillips of Butler will be a candidate for governor in May. A lot of other news relative to next May's political scrap is to be made public along about the first of the year.

DEPRESSION

Editor News,
Dear Sir:—
Depression is the talk of the day. At the present day and age there is more dissatisfaction in our country as a whole than ever before in the history of any nation.

Is the telephone, radio or any wireless for broadcasting the cause for all this dissatisfaction in human nature? As for the president of the United States today, every movement and plan that is brought up today is made public. Under those strenuous conditions do we thereby understand what we see, hear or read in our daily papers? Do we have too much criticism? So many of us only see the hump on our neighbors back and never see our own.

When Washington and Lincoln were presidents there was not so much dissatisfaction for the reason the public never knew or heard what was going on in Washington and we had more peace and happiness in our homes. Then there was no transportation of news and the American people were more in peace and harmony.

Now as to our war debt: if our American people received proper bonds for money loaned to foreign countries there should be no reason for any consolation. The next payment is fast approaching. Should any of our American people get a loan one form another they almost expect you to give your right eye and three ribs for security. Will probably be a long time before Americans hear the last of the large war debts due this nation by European nations. They amounted to over $14,000,000,000 of which a little more than $2,500,000,000 has been paid on the principal, leaving more than $11,500,000,000 still due. It may be interesting for us to see how much has been paid by each nation on its debt and how much is still owing this country.

Armenia owes $19,019,107 and paid nothing.
Austria paid $862,668 and owes $23,752,217.
Cuba paid $12,286,571 and owes nothing.
Czechoslovakia paid $18,304,178 and owes $167,071,023.
Estonia paid $1,248,432 and owes $16,466,012.
Finland paid $2,954,685 and owes $8,604,000.
France paid $486,075,891 and owes $3,863,650,000.
Great Britain paid $1,911,798,298 and owes $4,398,000,000.
Belgium paid $52,191,273 and owes $400,680,000.

Hungary paid $468,466 and owes $1,908,560.
Italy paid $97,584,421 and owes $2,004,900,000.
Latvia paid $634,166 and owes $6,388,664.
Liberia paid $36,471 and owes nothing.
Lithuania paid $1,128,580 and owes $6,197,682.
Greece paid $3,091,936 and owes $31,516,000.
Nicaragua paid $168,783 and owes $352,627.
Poland paid $22,846,297 and owes $296,087,000.
Rumania paid $4,761,945 and owes $63,860,560.
Russia paid $8,748,879 and owes $317,953,000.
Jugoslavia paid $2,588,771 and owes $61,625,000.

A grand total of $2,627,580,891 paid and $11,598,501,458 still owing. It will be noticed of the total indebtedness, that around 80 per cent of it was loaned to Great Britain, France and Italy. The English have paid approximately one-third of their debt, the French less than one-eighth and Italy less than one-twentieth of what she received.

While American popular sentiment is opposed to cancellation of these debts it is unlikely that all of them will ever be paid. In thinking about these debts it should be borne in mind that the greater part of them represented money loaned and advanced after the actual fighting had ended. They were not loaned to keep Germany from winning the war as some of our debtors would seek to have us believe. France, for example, owes a large part of its debt in payment of American military supplies and improvements erected on French soil which were sold to them at price far below cost after the war.

Respectfully submitted,
G. D. GLOSNER,
R. D. 2, City.

TO BE PRESENTED AT COMING HEARING

Petitions are being prepared by the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, which will be distributed to all their members, which will urge favorable action by the United States Board of Army Engineers on the proposed canalization of the Beaver and Mahoning Rivers.

These petitions which are being sent out are expected to be largely signed by business and professional men of the city, as well as the employees of various industrial and business establishments, and will be presented at the hearing which will take place in Washington, on December 12.

The petitions urge the improvement "as a means of preserving the industrial activity of the valleys, and as a way to conserve the great reservoir of human skill, concentrated in this area and dependent so largely upon a livelihood from employment given by the steel industry, and accessory plants, and other industries located here."

The petition further states "We believe, too, that the proposed improvement is equally vital to the welfare and continuance of the vast retail and wholesale businesses of this city and these valleys, as well as to those individuals dependent upon them, and to the great army of home owners residing in this area."

Motorists Complain Of Delay In Work Of Ashing Hills

While some hill streets were ashed Sunday night following the quick freeze that turned hillsides into glassy runways, motorists complained that there was unusual delay in getting the work done.

The dangerous condition of the roads and streets became apparent about seven o'clock and at eleven thirty such hills as East Washington street between County Line and Oak streets were still unashed. At least one car was wrecked at Pearson street, many others went into spins, and scores refused to try the hill.

State street hill was the first one ashed, then followed Jefferson street and sometime after midnight East Washington street was ashed.

On the highways the state forces were out early with an exception of the long hill east of Harlansburg.

Police Officer Fires At Suspect

Youth Seeking Place To Sleep
Has Close Call From Bullet

One young East Side lad is fortunate he is alive today as police fired at him early Sunday morning when he was surprised in the Mitchell store at Allen and Superior street.

After hearing his story, the mayor let the boy go home Sunday morning.

According to the police the young man has not been going home at night.

Early Sunday morning he crawled through a window into the store, to sleep, so he told the mayor.

Passersby saw matches being lighted, summoned police and a shot was fired at him in the cellar by an officer.

He surrendered.

The mayor gave the young lad a severe talking to, told him he was fortunate to be alive as the officers, with instructions to take no chances had no reason other than to believe he was a burglar, and they shot at him.

The boy was told to go to his home with his father where his mother and father could iron out any differences they might have.

Now distribute the GENERAL TIRE

We are proud To ANNOUNCE that we have taken over the distribution in Lawrence County of the famous low pressure
GENERAL TIRE.

After thorough investigation we have selected the General Tire for our customers. Its patented low air pressure construction results in exclusive advantages not found in other tires. With this remarkable tire and our unusual service facilities we can do a better job for our customers. Come in and give this combination a trial.

We open now with a complete, fresh stock of Blowout-Proof General Tires. No matter what car you drive, large or small, or how much mileage you need for the life of your car, you will find just what you are looking for in our big selection of General Tires. Blowout-Proof "Dual-8" Generals, the Streamline Jumbo, the famous General "Dual-Grips"—in our stock there is the right tire for your greatest economy and satisfaction.

The way to avoid blowouts is to buy THE BLOWOUT-PROOF TIRE

• Tire blowouts cause thousands of fatal accidents yearly. For your protection you should know that there is only one BLOWOUT-PROOF tire. It is patented and made exclusively by General. No other manufacturer has been licensed to build it. General's patented Blowout-Proof construction eliminates dangerous heat from every ply—and permits the use of 30% to 40% less air pressure than other tires require.

• Ordinary tires require as much as 45 pounds of air to give satisfactory mileage. This terrific pressure is ready to burst through the carcass walls with explosive force when the tire is punctured or struck a sharp blow. But you can't have an explosion from low pressure. That's why only a low-pressure tire—only a GENERAL—can be blowout-proof.

• And think what General's soft, low-pressure means in skid-safe winter driving! Let us explain our special change-over plan. You'll be surprised how easy it is to have the genuine Blowout-Proof Tire.

VOCATIONAL NEWS

This evidently has been "dell up week" for the Sophomore girls. Some have been busy painting the girls' dressing room; others have been giving the silverware a final touch; while still others were busy making attractive curtains for the department.

In the foods class the girls are beginning to work on the preparing of the delicacies and wholesome food of them in traced drawing. They have just finished the work on invalid cooking. In the Freshman poultry class, the boys have been asked to make a poultry notebook, which will help them in their poultry course. They are also planning on having a flock of chickens which they can study and care for. They have studied different breeds and traced drawings of them in their books and have copied questions and answers in their notebooks. These will help them to identify and better understand the different breeds.

Out of the twenty-five boys in the Freshman class the following nine have already selected their pro-

New Castle-Sharon To Renew Relations On Thanksgiving Day

Sharon Won From New Castle In 1921 At Old Carnegie Field

Two Teams Met At Taggart Field In 1925; Relations Were Then Severed

Renewal of football relations with Sharon high school will be the Thanksgiving Day dish for New Castle high "Red Hurricane" football team. Not since 1925 have the two neighboring schoolboy teams faced each other across the chalked off gridiron. Sharon high defeated New Castle for the last time back in 1921 at the old Carnegie Steel Mill field.

Sharon has never defeated a New Castle team coached by Phil H. Bridenbaugh. There will be lots of rivalry and tradition to this game to be unfolded Thursday afternoon. The Sharon county team while not entertaining any hopes of upsetting the New Castle high powered machine, do have hopes of holding the New Castles to a low score.

Booth Was Good
In that defeat by Sharon back in 1921 it was a young man by the name of Dick Booth, a fullback, who made New Castle curl up. Later Booth went to Pitt and became a national figure in football. He was a sweet football player. A punter, fullback and as fast as a deer. Sharon does not have any more Booths. They don't have any more Sebastians. But they will have a fast and clever backfield.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is not taking any chances on this Sharon game. New Castle wants a victory. The 26th victory in a row would look nice in print. Also two undefeated seasons would look nice on paper. That's just what this New Castle team is going to try and do. Also New Castle would like to roll up several more points to make their 1933 record all the more impressive.

Want Big Crowd
It's to be "appreciation day" you know, and a crowd of about 10,000 fans will no doubt digest their Thanksgiving turkey on the way to Taggart field to watch the two schoolboy teams tangle. It's funny about Thanksgiving, but you just naturally associate turkey and football.

Word comes from Sharon that Captain Johnny Marcus, the youth injured in the recent game with Meadville, will likely be recovered enough by Thursday to play against New Castle, if only for one or two periods. He suffered a severe shoulder bruise. Marcus is the center on the Sharon team, and a very dependable snapper-back.

Tickets for the game are going fast and may be obtained at the Sporting Goods Store. In event of good weather the stands at Taggart field will no doubt be jammed to capacity. There is a lot of color to this battle. Sharon will send a great host to New Castle. Far and wide they have heard about the "Red Hurricane". They are anxious to see what this "Hurricane" is made of.

Rift Occurs In Tri-State Loop

Waynesburg-Grove City Will Argue Differences At Meeting Week From Tonight
A rift has occurred in the Tri-State conference. The issues at stake seem to be scholarships for athletes. Grove City college and Waynesburg seem to have leading parts in the squabble. Grove City is said to have taken issue with the eligibility lists submitted by Waynesburg and some of the other schools. Anyhow, Grove City dropped Geneva and Waynesburg off the football card for 1934. Thiel also dropped Waynesburg. There is expected to be a lot of fireworks in Pittsburgh the night of the meeting, which will be one week from tonight. Scholarships are only permitted to athletes among the upper one-third of their respective classes.

No Definite Word About Miami Game

Miami Will Consider New Castle For Christmas Day Game If Undefeated

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of New Castle Senior High is without any definite information from Miami, Florida, concerning a post-season inter-sectional game with Miami High for Christmas Day. In a recent letter received by Mr. Gardner, the Miami officials said that nothing definite would be known until the close of their regular season on December 9. If Miami is defeated they will not play a post-season game. They are undefeated to date.
New Castle will be given consideration along with a few other well known nationally prominent high schools, according to word from Miami.
New Castle also must defeat either Greensburg or Jeannette to get the Miami bid. The Class AA conference game, if necessary will more than likely be played in Pittsburgh.

Undefeated 1923 Football Team To Attend Grid Game

Carrying out a pledge made as they trained at Muddy Creek football camp away back in 1923, ten years ago to be exact, about 15 or 18 members of the undefeated great 1923 Thanksgiving Day game in a body. Word to this effect was announced by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today.

In boyish enthusiasm more than anything else one of the boys suggested that ten years later they would gather as many as possible and attend the turkey day game in a body. They will occupy a special section of the concrete stands.
Were Undefeated.
The 1923 team was undefeated. The team score 400 points and was scored on for but 20 points. This is the same team that tied Turtle Creek high at Forbes field, Pittsburgh, in the post-season playoff.
The names of the players, many of whom you will recall very quickly were: Ends, "Zip" Sargent, "Bren"

Hanlon (now deceased); tackles, "Greenville" Cunningham and Ted Hess; center, "Dutch" Haug; guards, Alec Fox and Titus Monath. Monath was captain of the team.
The backfield was composed of Ralph "Scooter" Day, one of the greatest high school players of all time; Eddie Ward and Joe Smith at the halfback posts and Chuck VanBroeklin at fullback.
Others on the team were Bob Patton, Ewart Reese, Bill Twaddle, George Ely, Johnny Offutt, Tucker Nolan, Chester Dean, Tony Monaco, Paul Fahey, Paul Crowell, Jud Hess, John Duford, George Phelps. Bob Sadler was manager of the team. All of the players will be present at the game with the exception of Eddie Ward and Alec Fox, it will be impossible for them to be here. Butler was the only team in the regular schedule to score on the great 1923 team.

Stanford Will Ask Princeton Come To Coast

Should Princeton Refuse The Rose Bowl Game Army Will Get Bid

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—Stanford vs. Princeton!

That was the prospect today for the annual New Year's day game in the Pasadena Rose Bowl following Stanford's selection as the Pacific Coast representative with the privilege of naming its eastern opponent. Although arrangements have not been completed it was generally believed on the Pacific Coast that Yale would waive an agreement with Princeton that theirs should be the last game for both teams in order that Princeton, if invited, could play in the Rose Bowl.

Army Second Choice
Army, likewise undefeated, was another eastern probability, together with Duke, also undefeated, and Michigan whose seasonal record is blotted only by the scoreless game with Minnesota.

Stanford was invited by the Rose Bowl committee and accepted the invitation following its sensational 7-3 victory over the University of California before 90,000 spectators at Palo Alto.
Although the University of Southern California was reported "shocked" over the invitation to Stanford, the committee agreed that Stanford's victories over both U. S. C. and California gave the Cardinals the edge.
In event Princeton is unable to accept Stanford's probable invitation it was reported that political wheels already are being turned to bring Army westward if the cadets defeat Notre Dame Saturday.

Michigan Team Is Rated High

Michigan Again Wins Big Ten Conference; Only Blemish Is Tie Game

SIX OTHER TEAMS ARE UNDEFEATED

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The records in the case will show that Michigan won its fourth successive Big Ten championship on Saturday by beating Northwestern, 13 to 0, to finish with seven victories and one tie. The records will also show that some of the other teams have no ties. But records have been known to ignore essentials in order to stress the common-place and, besides, I saw one contender muddle through on Saturday and am aware that two or three others did much the same, which, of course, is quite their own business.

However, unaccustomed as I am to business-minding, I have decided that it's about time to bring the flat heel or common sense system to bear on the national championship situation in football. This method does not name the champion. It merely asks you to beat a team that has just finished a schedule, including Michigan State, Cornell, Ohio State, Chicago, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Northwestern.

Six Unbeaten Teams.
At least six other teams survived Saturday's games undefeated, the list including Duke, which beat North Carolina State, 7 to 0; the Army which beat the Navy, 12 to 7; Minnesota, which beat Wisconsin, 6 to 3; and Centenary, which beat Mississippi, 7 to 6. But these scores only show that the winners were forced to the limit by what was supposed to be inferior opposition and in at least two instances the winners were in a sense, outplayed. One of them was the Army, which except for Johnson's 82-yard run and a long march for a second touchdown, was on the defensive all day. The other, Minnesota, could not have won except for a goal-line fumble.

Princeton Great Team.
As for Princeton, it only yielded a touchdown for the first time this year in beating Rutgers, 26 to 6, while Louisiana State stayed up with the leading flight by beating Mississippi State, 21 to 6.

As a matter of fact, there are any number of defeated teams I'll match with some or all of the leaders on current form.

Tennessee would be one. Stanford which won the coast title on Saturday, by beating California, 7 to 3, would be another. Nebraska, winner over Iowa, 7 to 6, is a third and naturally Pitt is a fourth. What, too, of Southern California with its wild-running Warburton and its 19 to 0 decision over Notre Dame? The Trojans, in spite of one slip, belong up there and so do Columbia with its 16 to 0 victory over Syracuse and Detroit, which beat Michigan State, 14 to 0. Also Ohio State which wound up beating Illinois 7 to 6, and Purdue, which won from Indiana, 19 to 3. These are one-defeat teams that are as good as the next in every way, except in the records.

In the mining shares group Cerro de Pasco, American Smelters, Alaska Juneau and Dome bore the brunt of the selling. United States Rubber, Goodyear and Case came for selling with the latter named in the list.

National Distillers and United States Industrial Alcohol were sold freely losing from 1 to 4 points. Industrial shares notably United States Steel held comparatively well in the face of the selling. Utility shares including United Gas Improvement, American Water Works and Consolidated Gas were firm.

Weakness in other sections of the list had an adverse effect on the railroad shares which lost fractionally to more than a cent a share, silver lost about a cent an ounce, and cotton about $1 a bale.

HOT SPRINGS ARE NOT DRYING UP

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—Visitors to Yellowstone National park who insist that the hot springs in the Mammoth area are drying up are mistaken, George C. Crowe, assistant park naturalist, declared. "Able scientists have measured the flow of water from Mammoth Hot Springs at intervals, and state that the change in the total flow of water is so gradual that it is not noticeable to the casual observer. The fact that the hot waters change their outlets frequently and suddenly, at times, could account for the impression of 'drying up,' Crowe explained.

Pinchot Gives Warning About Works Program

Politics Are Not To Enter Into Civilian Works Jobs, Says Governor

EMPLOYEES WILL FACE DISMISSAL

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—Call for employment of 1,100 men and total expenditure of $250,000, the largest civil works project yet authorized in Pennsylvania today bore the approval of Eric H. Biddle, state CWA administrator.

The project is for construction and development of a park and parkway in Mount Penn Park at Reading.

Governor Gifford Pinchot again warned that politics must be kept out of the civil works administration and that any state employee who violates this principle will be dismissed forthwith.

In writing to superintendents of the 12 district state employment offices, the governor said:

No Politics

"I want you to know that any employee of a state employment office who permits political influence or personal considerations to enter into the placing of workers from the employment office rolls will be dismissed forthwith. The state administration comes into this picture only insofar as the state employment offices are utilized for the placing of 150,000 workers. Other projects approved by Biddle include:

Constructing measuring well on Sugar creek, and another on Shennungo river, both at Pymatung; constructing stone base on Musselman street, Somerset; excavation for kitchen and garage at Somerset home and hospital; grading and construction of a ball field and driveway for Ogle township school district, Somerset county; relocating and dredging of Brush creek and extending sewers at Jeannette; grading, seeding and planting in Jeannette Park, and grading municipal athletic field at Youngwood.
